

Review for video "Noticed"

Running time: 22 mins 29 sec

Jeny is strolling along the paths of a shady park. It's a beautiful, warm day. She has chosen to wear a blue dress with white polka dots and an asymmetrical length, shorter in the front than the back and fastened with buttons from top to bottom.

After skirting a stretch of water, Jeny goes to the pontoon and sits down on the steps. She takes a few selfies and we notice people right behind her, people who have no idea that she has just undone all the buttons on her dress. From the opposite shore the fishermen could see that she wasn't wearing any underwear.

Jeny zips up her dress and set off down the park paths. But not all the buttons on her dress have been fastened. She wanders around at random, lifting up the sides of her dress, and if you pay close attention, her landing strip is often revealed. It's easy to see from her walk and smile that she's keen to play.

Jeny is walking along at random when suddenly, what does she see? A guy sitting on a bench. He seems to be concentrating on his phone and is wearing headphones. As luck would have it, there's another bench right next to him. Jeny settles down with a scenario in mind that already seems to amuse her.

She does everything she can to attract his attention by revealing her legs and then undoing a few buttons at the bottom of her dress. She seeks his gaze but nothing happens yet. Jeny is going to have to play harder.

Her dress is now fully open, but that doesn't seem to be enough.

Jeny caresses her nipples, strikes suggestive and provocative poses and finally the young man looks at her, but very discreetly. Jeny then adds a little more and he finally dares to look up at her a little longer. For a moment you get the impression that Jeny is becoming shy. But only for a moment, because their eyes finally meet and there's even an exchange of smiles. The guy removes his headphones from his ears and this time is openly interested in Jeny's breasts, which she has just revealed. And then he puts his phone away in his pocket and turns towards her to enjoy the show. And that's when Jeny decides to get up and come over to him.

Sitting next to him, Jeny explains the game to him and an amusing discussion begins, which you can follow by watching the video.

But she doesn't want to stop there, so she tells him her secrets, teases him and finally asks him to help her get dressed. Sure enough, he'll never come to the park again without thinking about what happened, and he'll even admit that the whole thing will remain engraved in his memory forever.
