

Review for photoshoot “Jeny's Carwash”

A sport car under a bridge and three pretty girls to accompany Jeny. Everything is ready for an amazing photo shoot. The script is written and everything has been thought out. Ultra short black skirt and red top, high heels and no underwear, Jeny is sexy and provocative. The photographer set up high-contrast lighting to create a tumultuous and intimidating atmosphere. Alex is going to film the session. As Jeny checks the car like a future buyer would, a few onlookers stop to look. But not to look at the curves of the car but rather to admire Jeny's buttocks that we see when she bends down to inspect the cabin of the convertible. Of course, the car is magnificent, but traces of dust annoy Jeny. With a wave of her hand, she motions for her team to come and clean up. And what a great team! Each more desirable than the last, the girls are half-naked. Shorts that are too short, lace bras and stiletto heels, they arrive with sponges and towels. The bodywork is caressed, cuddled, pampered under Jeny's watchful eye. Now that the car is clean, the girls are having fun, laughing and soon Jeny is completely naked. She plays the shy young woman for a moment because she has just noticed that there are people under the bridge to enjoy the show. But her body language doesn't fool those who know her and now she poses for the photographer, for Alex but also and above all for her new audience. But the overly suggestive poses and the embarrassing proximity of the spectators will put a premature end to the unforgettable show.
