

My imagination inspired by the video "Lady at a Dance show premiere"

I knew that this dance company was organizing a party so I decided to go there but not as a photographer but rather as a "tourist". There are a lot of people and I don't know anyone except the two photographers I've already met but I don't remember on which event. I see them taking pictures of some of the VIPs present.

I admit to spending my time at the bar, eating "petits fours" and watching the people around me. That's when my eyes fell on this very beautiful young woman with incredible charm. Classy, she is dressed in a long veil dress under which we can see an ultra-short black mini skirt and wears a totally transparent blue bodice. She doesn't have a bra and her nipples are only hidden by two silver straps.

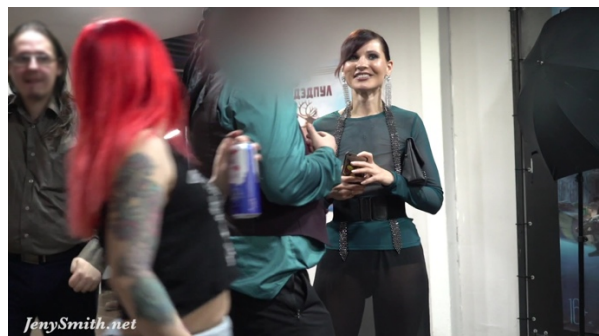

I can't take my eyes off her. Whether it's in well-lit rooms or in dark aisles, she fascinates me. Of course, one of the photographers spotted it. She strikes a pose and doesn't hesitate to show him her long legs. Her straps sometimes reveal her nipples and her black skirt slowly rises, revealing the birth of her buttocks.

The young woman now heads to the room where the performance will take place. It's impossible for me not to go in the same direction as her. The other photographer also spotted her. He offers to take some pictures and takes more suggestive shots as she spreads the straps and her breasts are totally exposed to the light of the flashes.

I know this photographer. I walk up to him and he greets me. The young woman smiled at me. Her name is Jeny. Unfortunately, one of my former clients spots me and starts a conversation. And when he asks me to have a drink at the bar, I politely decline. I turn around, Jeny is no longer there. I decide to look for her near the stage plunged into darkness but she has disappeared and I can't see her anymore.

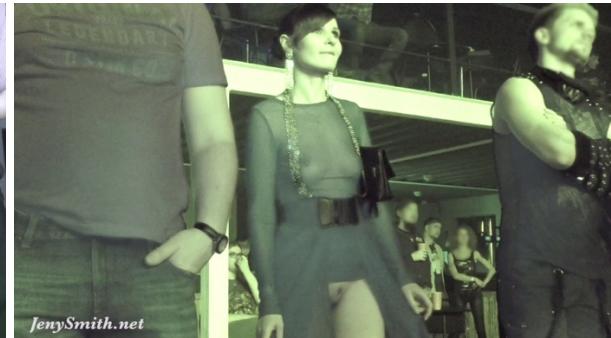

But who can see Jeny, up there on the mezzanine, leaning against the railing. From there she discovers the scene, she looks at the people below and then she spreads the flaps of her veil dress. She has no underwear. She turns on the light of her cell phone and directs it at her pussy, exposing it to everyone's eyes. Am I the only one enjoying the show?

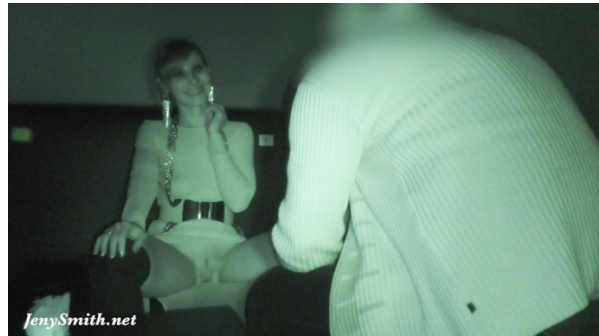

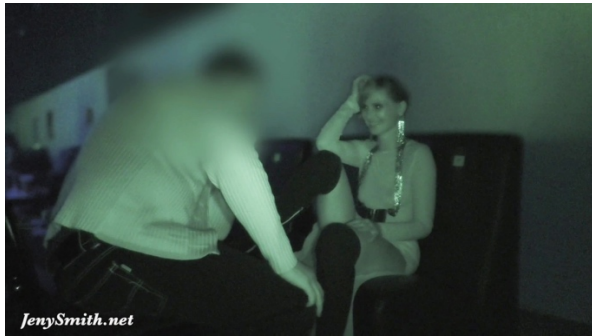

Jeny went back down to the main room. While people have their eyes glued to the dancers' performance on the stage, Jeny mingles with the crowd. She has completely opened her veil dress, no one imagines that the young woman here is half naked. No one sees her. Am I the only one who notices?

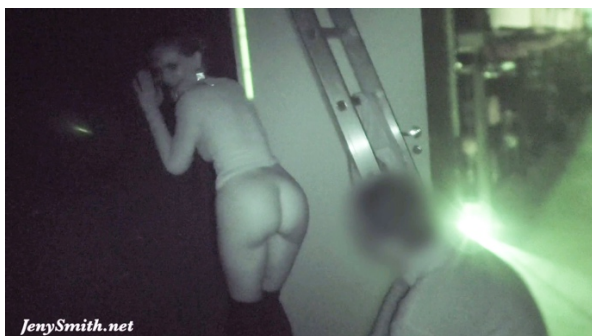

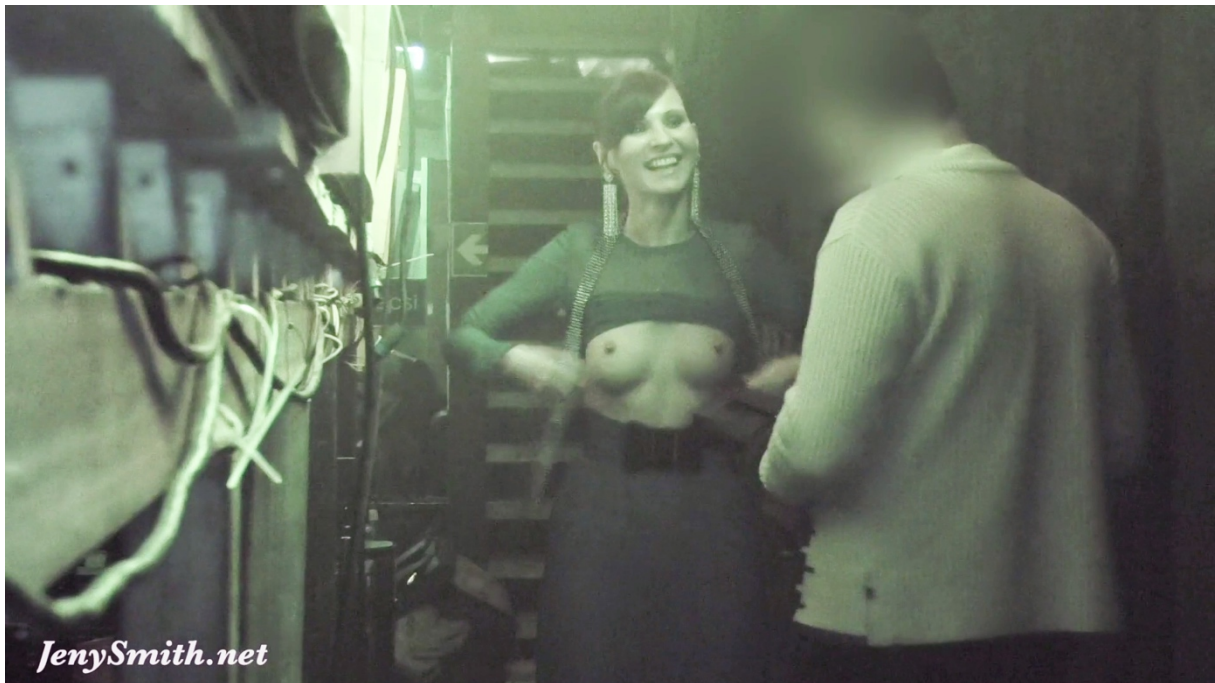

It's intermission. Just as Jeny has just put her outfit back in order, a man comes up to her. He told her that she looked stunning and that her little black skirt under her veil dress was way too up. Jeny replied that it was done on purpose. Obviously, he didn't expect such an answer. And they went upstairs together. Am I the only one who wants to follow them?

In fact, Jeny told him that she could give him a better view from a couch a little out of the way, up there at the back of the mezzanine. They started talking. The guy wanted to know why she was half naked in the middle of so many people. In response, Jeny opened her legs wide so that he could fully enjoy the view of her pussy. Am I the only one who wants to take advantage of it?

Despite the darkness, he was nervous that they would be surprised by security. But excited, he offered to go backstage, that he had a pass to get in and that's where they went. As soon as she got there, Jeny showed her breasts as she lifted her bodice. She asked him to kneel down and she presented him with her pussy and then her ass. Not afraid of anything, she undressed and even took a few steps like this, risking to run into someone in the hallway. Am I invited to see everything?

When the show was over, Jeny got dressed and went back into the room. I think she passed me, smiled at me, made a heart with both hands and said Poka Poka. But am I sure of what I've seen or is it my imagination?
