The press agency I work for offers me to cover the rowing competition on the large body of water near the capital. So I postponed my summer vacation by a week and after having difficulty finding a tourist motel, here I am on the road with my photo equipment.

My room located on the first floor of a rather pleasant 3-story building is luxurious. My next-door neighbors, a rather nice couple. I sometimes meet them in the morning when they go to the beach. The husband must be a fan of photography because after seeing my equipment, we exchange some small talk about my cameras. His wife has a charming smile and a stunning figure.

The days go by without problems and my week ends after sharing a good meal with a foreign colleague I met during the competition.

It's around midnight when I cross the motel parking lot to get to my room. In the light of my headlights I think I see a young woman whose skirt is very high and who seems to be waiting for something or someone. Looking for a place to park, I take another tour of the parking lot. This time I catch the young woman undressing. She is now completely naked. She hides behind a car when I get up to her but I saw everything. I smile because she seems to be having fun. Finally a free place. I park, get out of my car and head towards the entrance of my building.

The little naughty girl is a few meters in front of me and she is moving forward in the open. She doesn't know that I'm walking behind her and now it's me who's hiding. She has a dream body and a magnificent ass.

And that's when I see a shadow on my left. There's another guy following her. And he films her. Very quickly I understand their games. Here she is now in full light. Her tits and pussy are exposed for everyone to see but apart from the cameraman and myself there is no one there to enjoy it. However, there are pedestrians who pass not far from her but she has not been spotted. I feel like this disappoints her. I'm getting a little closer but I don't dare go any further. I can see her better now in the light of the street lamp. Oh my god, she's my next door neighbor. The guy filming is probably her husband. I'm downright excited about the situation.

There she is approaching the buildings. She sits for a moment on the bench in front of the entrance to the building. A few lights are on on the front of the building and some residents might see her but it doesn't seem to bother her. It even looks like she's looking for eye contact.

I now see her husband pass by her and go up to their apartment. She is alone outside, naked and even naughtier because I see her hands running over her breasts and her pussy. I in turn decide to enter the building discreetly to now follow her from my window.

As I see her coming home, unable to take it anymore, I go out onto the landing and of course this time I meet her on the stairs and in full light. I congratulate her, she smiles and greets me, satisfied. My only regret is not having dared to make me offer a good glass of wine in their apartment.
